

It's A Knockout is a fantastic team building event that will give you a fun day to remember. We can organise the event for a group size ranging from 30 to 2000.

The event will be run by your group being split into teams to compete against each other throughout the contest.

We can vary the event to suit the amount of people in your group and this can mean more or less games or different types included in the event.

Team sizes normally vary between 8 - 10 people but you can have as few as 6 and as many as 15 per team if you prefer.

How Does It Work?

The whole knockout is run by a compeer along with an experienced event crew who are scoring judges and safety marshals throughout. The compeer will start the event by giving everybody a safety briefing and a run down of the games followed by a traditional "warm up" dance! Then all teams nominate a captain who is issued with a 'joker' card to be played on any one game. Points are awarded for each game with there being an option to score double points by playing your joker card. Depending upon the group size we can either run one game at a time where the other teams are spectators. Alternatively we can have up to 6 games all running at once to accommodate a larger group.

What Else?

The event is run to a lively soundtrack with music old and new to add to the fun of the different games. We let you choose the games so that you can devise the perfect "IKO" for your group. The whole event will normally last between 2 ½ to 4 hours maximum but can be made shorter or longer to suit your requirements. At the end of each "knockout" we give a presentation with a trophy and medals for the winning team and if required booby prizes for the worst losers or biggest cheaters. If required we can also provide team bibs or t-shirts with team names printed.

This is the best part; all you need to provide is the participants. If you want to provide your own venue an ideal size is a flat field approximately ¾ of a football field with access to water. Otherwise we will use our large database of venues to find the perfect location for your event.
